GIVES NEWS OF POLAR PARTY

Amundsen's Ship Maud Enters Ice at Point Hope, Across Kotzebue, Prepared for Drift to North Pole

METAL MONOPLANE IS READY FOR FLIGHT

Reasons Given Why Lieut. Fullerton, of Canadian Air Service, Parted Company With Expedition

SEATTLE, Oct. 6.—Lieut. E. G. Fullerton, of the Canadian Air Service, was allowed to return from Captain Amundsen's Polar expedition because he refused to make trial flights at Deering, just inside the Arctic Ocean, said Captain John Backland, of the schooner C. S. Holmes, which arrived here today from Wainwright. Reinaer Lund, photographer, who left here with Amundsen, returned on the Holmes with 6,000 feet of film made between Seattle and Wainwright.

The Holmes encountered the Maud at Deering, both vessels having battled with the ice from the time they passed through Bering Strait.

The Maud had previously touched at East Cape, Siberia, where Lund reported three Eskimos whom Capt. Amundsen took back to their own country were landed with plenty of provisions.

Flight Across the Pole

Lund said that from East Cape Amundsen's ship was forced westward by the ice, and so came to Bering. There six Arctic flights were made to fly to Point Hope, across Kotzebue Sound from Deering. The Maud entered the ice for her drift across the Pole. Amundsen's big metal monoplane was taken to Point Hope, and from Point Hope Amundsen, Omdal and Lund went to Wainwright in Capt. Backland's craft.

INSPECTOR FOR IMPORTED EGGS

"Foreign Eggs, Government Inspected," Will Be Branded, and Cases Must State Grade of Eggs Contained Therein

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—All shipments of eggs in the shell imported into Canada for domestic consumption of lots of ten or more cases are now subject to Government inspection. This is provided for in the amendments to egg regulations under the Livestock and Livestock Products Act which has just received Royal Assent. A code for the marking for the cases in imported eggs, with the name of country of origin, and in the event of the eggs grading as "seconds," it will be necessary for the cases to be marked "fresh," "storage," or "preserved" seconds, as the case may be.

This grade includes eggs for food and weighs less than 23 ounces to the dozen, or 43 pounds net to the 30-dozen cases.

Must Bear Inspection

Should any imported eggs be repacked, marks must be put on the cases or containers similar to those on the cases from which the eggs were taken. Further, in all cases, imported eggs must bear the Canadian inspection or removal, which consists of the words: "Foreign Eggs, Government Inspected."

The regulations respecting the grading and marketing of eggs are administered by the Dominion Livestock branch, Department of Agriculture, and they now can interpret provincial, and other, laws to the extent to give some measure of protection to those buying eggs on grade, there is a clause in the amendments making it illegal for any person to ship or cause eggs to be shipped or displayed in cases or containers marked with any standard class or grade unless the eggs are actually equal to or better than the class and grade specified.

Batter Price Jumps

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6.—An advance of three cents per pound in the price of British Columbia creamery butter was announced here today. The price is now 44 cents wholesale.

ONE MONTH'S GRACE AFTER EVACUATION

PARIS, Oct. 6.—According to information received from British sources, the Angora Government has notified the Allies that, unless it is given a formal assurance that Thrace will be handed over to the Turks within one month after the evacuation of the Greek troops tonight, the Turkish troops will resume operations against the Greek forces.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—M. Politis, the Greek Minister of Foreign Affairs, tonight informed Premier Poincaré that he has sent instructions to Greece to stop all further dispatching of Greek troops into Thrace.

Quick Relief Saves Actual Suffering of Refugees From Fire

Those fortunate to escape from blaze work energetically for stricken neighbors—Five hundred are homeless, six thousand are losers in sweeping Ontario conflagration

PREMIER DRURY OVERSEES GOVERNMENT RELIEF PARTY

ANGLEHART, Ont., Oct. 6.—With the conclusion of a conference with townsmen here, at which complete arrangements were made regarding the care of fire sufferers, Premier Drury and his band of provincial officials, together with Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway officials, finished their task of providing for the needs of the stricken people of Northern Ontario, after the ravaging blaze which literally wiped out sections in this part of the country Wednesday afternoon.

It transpired during the meeting here that there are 29 known dead, 500 homeless, and roughly 6,000 fire sufferers. This is from reports secured all along the line. The property loss cannot be estimated as yet, neither can the exact casualty list, owing to utter lack of communication with outlying portions of the fire-swept areas.

The Wreck of Thorncore
It was a harrowing sight early this morning as the relief train pulled into what were once thriving settlements. A few smouldering embers, two or three grim-faced men waiting for the train to house relief supplies, and a charred skeleton of a house. Special relief men had to seek a tent to house relief supplies. Several other towns are in a similar plight.

Premier Drury stayed up the whole night, and personally impressed upon those to whom the supplies were issued that the Government had to act almost immediately. All relief work of something needed might not be available at the moment. Happily, however, there is no actual suffering, for the refugees being cared for by those who were fortunate enough to escape.

Willing Relief Workers
It was a thrilling sight to see how these people of the North country took their misfortune. At New Liskear, for instance, when the relief train arrived at 3:30 a.m. there were no more men with automobiles, were on hand to help in the work. Less than ten minutes later, one thousand or more pairs of blankets, milk, meat, butter, sugar, tea, boots and shoes, and dresses and men's wear were being given to those with lists of names of those in need. Neither cold nor biting rain dampened the ardor of the workers; in fact, rain is the best friend the inhabitants here have.

Englehart Greatest Sufferer
Englehart got the worst of the fire, between 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock, in the northwest corner of the town. It struck straight for the railway depot. Women and children were already loaded in cars ready to be moved away. Then, at Cobalt, the wind changed almost completely around. Twenty-five degrees. In the shape of a fan, were wiped out, but the fire was still burning. For the capricious tactics of the wind, nothing could have saved Englehart.

Headsill, three miles south of here, is more.

It was there that two families were wiped out, one by taking refuge in a root house. The corpses are here for burial probably tomorrow. Fire is still burning at Heapsill, but rain will eventually subdue it. Cochrane is still burning, but the fire is now under control. The town is a manufacturing center deserving of credit on a proper banking basis. Furthermore, the total loans of all the banks largely exceed the deposits in our Western provinces. There is no agricultural district in the wide world enjoying better banking facilities than in these our provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"No alternative form of banking is practicable. It is inconceivable that any system could be devised that would afford anything approaching similar banking facilities."

Telephone Police Cleared
For two and a half miles south of Heapsill not a telephone pole was left standing. Many valuable trees were cut in this area. Maybrook, another settlement of 100 souls, is also obliterated. Today the weather is clearing, but the temperature remains low. Train service is completely restored and telegraph wires will be up by Sunday. One cannot travel across the blackened area without seeing the marks that the death list was not trebled. For ten square miles in spot brush was eaten up like tinder. Everybody here is suffering from smoke and sore eyes, but none are complaining. The T. Eaton Co. has given a carload of family supply goods similar to those given by this firm to Halifax disaster sufferers.

JACKMAN, Maine, Oct. 6.—There was no halting today of the forest fire which started in cut-over land north of here three days ago and raced through the piles of slash, forcing woodsmen and their families to flee.

Lubberman, driven into town by the dense smoke, say that the damage will be heavy.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 6.—A decided feeling of optimism prevailed throughout most sections of the Northern Minnesota forest fire zone today. Fire fighting crews were able to make considerable progress yesterday and last night. Foggy weather and decreased wind velocity aided.

SOVIET ANNOUNCES NAVAL EXPANSION

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The correspondent in Berlin of The Times telegraphed that he learns that the military council of the Russian Soviet Government has decided to mobilize Russia's Black Sea naval forces. He adds that the Soviet naval commander in the Black Sea has issued orders suspending all leaves of absence by officers and men.

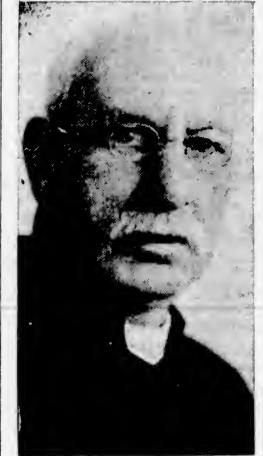

RIGA, Oct. 6.—According to Moscow advices here, Karl Radek, the Soviet chief of publicity, told the transport workers' congress that if Great Britain took over the rule of the Straits of the Dardanelles Russia would begin the construction of new warships.

LOCAL PASTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Rev. J. L. Batty, Pastor of Centennial Methodist Church for nearly four years, succumbs to heart failure

HAD FEARLESS SPIRIT AND GREAT OUTLOOK

Nearing completion of forty years of service in ministry, thirty of which were spent in Canada

REV. J. L. BATTY

A BIG section of the community today mourns the death of Rev. J. L. Batty, pastor of Centennial Methodist Church for more than three years, who succumbed shortly before 8 o'clock last evening from a heart attack. Mr. Batty, who had been under medical treatment for some months, and had had two serious operations during the past year, was strolling in his garden enjoying the beautiful October evening, when he was overcome by faintness. He slipped into his study in the church about 7:30, and fifteen minutes later Mr. J. E. Redman, who called to see him, found him sitting in the dark, evidently suffering. Mr. Redman telephoned for a physician, but by the time Dr. Raynor arrived he had breathed his last.

The late Mr. Batty was one of the most forceful characters among the industrial brotherhood of Victoria. In the last few years he had made a deep impression on the outlook not only of his own congregation but on a further big section of the community. A native of Yorkshire, England, he was 63 years of age, and was nearing the completion of forty years in the active ministry, over thirty of which he had spent in Canada. He came to Victoria from

DISCUSS COMMON TRADE PROBLEMS

Standardization of Weight and Quality of Imports and Exports Aim of Freight Trade Bureau

BIG OPIUM SEIZURE
Vancouver Police Got $25,000 Worth of Raw Drug as Chinaman Was Landing It in Rowboat

TACOMA, Oct. 6.—Raw opium in tins, valued by the police at $25,000, was seized here last night at the Oriental dock as it was being landed in a rowboat beneath the pier by Chinese.

Mr. Dawson, of Prince Rupert, announces that he will be unable to reach Toronto in time for the meeting and will accordingly meet his new colleagues at the hotel in Vancouver.

Seafarers' trades dispute by arbitration, rather than arbitration, has received the commendation of lay and legal members of the gathering and the meeting received its approval of the policy of bringing trade disputes before boards of arbitration.

With a view to having along the Pacific Coast a standardization, inspection of weight and quality of imports and exports, which would be accepted as final, the foreign trade bureau of the Board of Trade will co-operate with that of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and those of other Pacific ports to the extent of appointing a special committee which will study the question and bring in a report.

It is considered probable that similar committees will be appointed in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and other Pacific ports and that they will meet and discuss the problem in the near future to consider its feasibility as a coastwise measure.

GRENADIER GUARDS AT CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—The continued arrival of British naval and military units had a further depressing effect on the Christian population of Constantinople.

The steamer Empress of India came in yesterday with the Grenadier Guards, the latest troop reinforcement. Applications for passage have decreased somewhat, and reservations on the Orient Express are again obtainable.

FRENCH OFFICERS KILLED

CAIRO, Oct. 6.—Two French officers were killed during an attack on the auto of Ismail Pasha, governor of Haifa, in French territory. The governor's party was leaving the capital yesterday, according to a report from a reliable source. Ismail Pasha was wounded in the leg and his chauffeur and secretary were wounded.

ITALIAN DELEGATE IS UNDER ORDERS TO FOLLOW FRENCH LEAD

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—General Mombell, its representative at the Mudania conference, to support the Turkish Cabinet and secretary were wounded.

KEMALIST ATTITUDE CAUSES GRAVE FEARS

Time Limit Given Allies for Immediate Occupation of Eastern Thrace Expired Last Night—British Assemble Strong Forces in Chanak Region of Asiatic Turkey

French and Italian Support for Turks

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Dispatches received here tonight give even a graver aspect to the Near Eastern situation than that of earlier in the day. The Kemalists are insisting on the right to the immediate occupation of Eastern Thrace, and have given the Allies a time limit expiring this evening for a reply on this question. The Turks have refused to accept the proposal for Allied occupation of Thrace, or any Allied control, and apparently they are supported in this stand by the French and Italian governments.

May Add Extension

Everything seems to depend on the British cabinet's reply to the report of Brigadier-General Harrington, which was said to be anxiously awaited in Constantinople this evening. It was expected that General Harrington would ask of the Turks an extension of their time limit for the occupation of Thrace until tomorrow morning. He has been in possession of his Government's instructions. In the meantime General Harrington has proceeded with the other Allied representatives back to Mudania in the hope of renewing the conference.

Supports Kemal Pasha

The fact that M. Franklin Bouillon, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, who attended the third session of the American League of Nations, has been introduced by President MacAdam. Sir Frederick was given a most hearty reception. In thanking President MacAdam for his introduction, and the meeting for the cordial reception, he said he hoped it would not be out of place to make a few statements in reply to Mr. Andrew Frame's criticism of the Canadian branch banking system.

Sir Frederick said: "Whether or not the branch banking system should or should not be adopted by the United States is not for me to say, as I have not been asked for my opinion, and, therefore, any suggestion from me on the subject would be in bad taste. It seems a pity that Mr. Frame has not exercised equal restraint. For him to compare the Canadian branch banking system with the Canadian banking system and all its disadvantages which Canada has suffered accordingly, can be described in one word—'word used only in diplomacy'—a word which the Canadian press might properly print in capital letters 'Abracadabra'; in other words, Mr. Frame's comments are based on wrong premises and incorrect conclusions."

Taking the Northwest of Canada as an example: Hera we have an area of 100,000 miles in width and 400 to 450 miles in depth, producing the best wheat on earth. The population is 2,000,000. There are nearly 1,300 branches of powerful Canadian banks, not merely willing, but in eager competition to lend money to the farmer, manufacturer, and merchant, deserving of credit on a proper banking basis. Furthermore, the total loans of all the banks largely exceed the deposits in our Western provinces. There is no agricultural district in the wide world enjoying better banking facilities than in these our provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"No alternative form of banking is practicable. It is inconceivable that any system could be devised that would afford anything approaching similar banking facilities."

PRINCE RUPERT HONORS NEW BOARD DIRECTOR

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Oct. 6.—British Columbia's representative on the new directorate of the Canadian Pacific Railways will be unable to attend the initial meeting in Toronto next Tuesday at which the board in Vancouver will be reorganized.

His replacement will be the new one now in office, F. G. Dawson, of Prince Rupert, who announces that he will be unable to reach Toronto in time for the meeting and will accordingly meet his new colleagues at the hotel in Vancouver, where they come West on the tour of inspection in three weeks.

Mr. Dawson will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be held here.

Fraternal Delegate to Toronto Conference Says Old Country Church Will Follow Canada's Lead

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—Assurances that the campaign against the liquor traffic in Great Britain will be waged in an energetic manner until the temperance forces have made as big advances as they have made in Canada, were given to the Methodist general conference last night by Rev. J. Alfred Sharp, fraternal delegate from the Wesleyan Methodist church of Great Britain. At the same time, he declared that the Methodist Church in the Old Land has reached the stage where it has to use as its example of progress the achievements of the younger church in Canada.

In touching upon the question of church union, the advice of the speaker was that church people should approach it as gentlemen and not as disputants. Differences could be settled only in a gentlemanly way and not in any spirit of hostility or antagonism.

Prayers for Near East

At the afternoon session the conference adopted a resolution setting Sunday, October 15, as the day of prayer in the various churches that the leaders of the Empire may be sustained and guided in the handling

CANADA'S DEBT ON DECREASE

Fall of Nearly Four Million Dollars Shown in September Statement of Department of Finance

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Canada's debt continues to decrease. Figures issued today by the Department of Finance show a further fall of $3,645,422 in the debt, which now stands at $2,384,742,042, compared with $2,388,367,264 on August 31. This decrease, however, compares unfavorably with that of September, 1921. During that month there was a reduction in the net debt of $12,380,181, the debt standing at $2,332,668,903 on September 30.

Total revenue collected during the month of September of the present year was $31,831,446, which was $10,039,742 less than during September, 1921. On the other hand expenditures increased from $21,011,003 in September, 1921, to $24,142,118 during the past month, an advance of $1,131,115.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—"RATS EATING MATCHES!"
At one time this cause was assigned to many mysterious fires within hollow walls. The real cause was careless electric wiring around which rats made their nests of insulating material. The rats would gnaw the insulation and start a fire. The house went up. Better wiring and fewer rats end this. Cannot you see that the remaining hazards be eliminated? Give your mind to it.

CHINESE ATTITUDE
EXPLAINED TO BOARDMr. Hastings Charges School Trustees With "High-handed" Action
—School May Close Monday

Mr. Harry Hastings, spokesman for the Chinese residents of Victoria, wrote yesterday to Mr. W. F. C. Pope, secretary of the School Board, outlining the attitude of the Chinese in the segregation controversy.

The Chinese will hold a meeting tonight to adopt a plan of action. To-day is the only opportunity of doing so on Monday the segregated school will be closed for the rest of the year unless the Chinese students return by that time.

The School Board will not meet until next Wednesday night, unless it receives a special request for a conference before then.

Mr. Hastings' letter follows:

Mr. Sir, In accordance with your letter of the 5th instant, outlining the views of the Board in reference to the suggestion made by the delegation from the Chinese at last Monday night's meeting, I will communicate the same, immediately, to the Chinese parents for whom I acted as spokesman. The interest of my personal capacity as a citizen and a taxpayer, permit me to say that I am surprised at the high-handed action taken by the Board.

If the conditions are as represented to me by Mr. Geo. Deane, the school inspector, the proposals advanced by the Chinese, which were referred to me by the Board, and by him, referred to me to be very reasonable. If they are not capable of being carried out by reason of want of funds or want of authority from the School Act, some other modified solution to the problem, if one really exists, might be found by further frank discussion with the Chinese parents, now that the Chinese have been admitted to the school system.

DIFFERENCES AT MUDANIA

It is obvious that a good deal more is going on behind the scenes at Mudanlia than is being made public. The refusal to permit journalists to attend the conference has left the whole situation in a haze of uncertainty and what has actually happened is largely guesswork. From what can be gathered the two points on which the conference has split are those dealing with the evacuation of Constantinople and the immediate future of Eastern Thrace. In regard to the latter France is supporting the Turkish claims which probably for the moment only deal with the occupation policy, with, however, an understanding that Thrace must revert to the Turks in any peace settlement. There is no news of any Turkish demands for an indemnity from Greece, nor has the subject of the surrender of the Greek fleet been mentioned.

One point regarding Constantinople that is certain to be raised by the Kemalists is the question of fortifications in the Marmara region for the purpose of defending the Turkish capital against surprise attack. These fortifications would destroy the principle of the freedom of the Straits, for in time of war the Bosphorus could be closed by the Turks. It may be that this question and some of the others mentioned will not be raised until the peace conference is held, but in the meantime the armistice is postponed, and chiefly because of the Greek determination to defend Eastern Thrace. The Allies are placed in a delicate position and from the British standpoint there must be hesitation in acceding to the Kemalist demands, for it is possible such acquiescence will not bring about a solution of the difficulties unless the attitude of Greece changes. In the attitude of both the Greeks and Turks there is implied a menace to the peace of the Balkans. France is emphatically in favor of peaceful methods in the Near East. Britain is equally opposed to an outbreak so long as the freedom of the Straits is assured, but the danger of the spread of the Greco-Turkish war to the Balkans is a matter of supreme importance to all Europe.

What pressure can be exercised by the Allies on the new Government in Greece is problematical. If the principle of self determination is to rule, then a solution of the present issue in the Near East should be postponed until after the Greek elections, at which the future of Thrace will, no doubt, be the burning issue. It is obvious that the whole situation remains fraught with danger. Although there are clouds of uncertainty obscuring what has actually happened at Mudanlia, it is very apparent that the Kemalists have demanded more than Britain is prepared to yield, and it is peace in Europe that is at stake. If the Greeks and Turks remain obstinate either they will have to be allowed to fight it out among themselves or else coercive methods will have to be adopted. The situation is certainly not one which should lead to any diminution in the Entente between Britain and France because of differences of opinion regarding how an other European war may be averted.

DISABILITIES

With four years having elapsed since the Armistice, it is time that there was an adequate and substantial policy dealing with the disability cases among the returned soldiers. There seems to be a policy in the making at present for a reduction in pensions which leaves the recipients in uncertainty about what is proposed for the future. There is also a move on foot to put the heavy disability cases, who have been employed in the local Red Cross workshop, on a basis of "piece work" which may be translated into a policy which cannot but be harmful to these men towards whose mental attitude the Government owes every consideration. By this we mean that total disabilities should, wherever possible, be given such work as they are able to do without impairing their general state of health and should be made to feel that they are filling a niche in the process of rehabilitation. It is a counsel of despair to deprive them of any work which they can accomplish, or to withhold from them fruits of labor in which they take a pleasure and pride. They have every right, in every legitimate way, to add to the small pensions which they enjoy so that they may obtain more of the necessities of life. Indeed, by becoming incapacitated in the service of their country they have established claims that can never be adequately recognized.

The question is, who is responsible for the new policy that is being adopted in the matter of pensions and workshops for disabled cases. The policy of the Liberal party is specific enough in dealing with disabilities. It provides as follows:

"That soldiers permanently disabled should be trained for some useful occupation selected by themselves and for which they are fitted or can be fitted for such length of time as shall render them efficient in some and after being so trained should be assisted by the Government in obtaining employment at a rate of remuneration adequate to the services rendered in such employment." The assistance by the Government, as outlined in the concluding part of the paragraph we have mentioned, should mean among other things such institutions as the local Red Cross workshop. The Liberal policy, however, is not being translated into terms of action if the heavy disability cases are to be put on a basis of "piece work."

So long as no permanent solution of the phases mentioned in relation to the returned soldier problem is reached there will be dissatisfaction, and of a character that will receive public support. We are very certain that the people of Canada do not want discrimination exercised in the treatment of heavy disability cases. They want just treatment accorded these men. It is desirable also that pensions should be standardised and made permanent and not subjected to the present fluctuations. Medical knowledge must have reached a point where the effects of disabilities throughout life are apparent to trained minds. In any case where doubt exists those who have suffered and are suffering should be given the benefit of the doubt. The treatment of disabilities is not one for a cheese-paring policy, especially where the mental attitude of the victims of such a policy is going to be affected.

GASOLINE TAX

The attitude of the Union of B. C. Municipalities puts an end to any possibility that the Provincial Government will give favorable consideration to a proposal for a tax on gasoline to aid in municipal revenues. Probably the delegates to the Kamloops convention foresaw the difficulties of collection, and the possibility of legal proceedings on the ground that the legislation would be ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature. No such tax could be imposed unless it was Provincial-wide in its application and the difficulties which the Provincial Government has found in attempting to enforce a tax on private liquor imports would make it very chancy in experimenting anew in cutting into revenues which are, and should be, exclusively Federal. Our City Council in these latter months has engaged in many discussions which lead nowhere. From now on the hope will be expressed that its time will be occupied in a more practical way. It should remember that the next municipal election will be fought on the subject of retribution, not on the issue of increased taxation.

CAUGHT NAPPING BY
INGENIOUS RASCAL

London Jewelers Fall Victims to Ingenious Crook and Scheme of Knobless Doos

The devious ways of crooks appear to be as numerous as it is almost impossible to guard against them, and even the most cautious and experienced business man may be taken in at a trick that is new to him, or has new phases in it. The well-known Jewelry firm, Mappin & Webb, who have shops in various parts of Europe and Canada as well as in London, recently suffered the loss of a diamond ring valued at £300 through a carefully-planned and successfully executed fraud which was carried out at the Piccadilly Hotel in London.

A man who posed as "Mr. J. Bolman" of New York, emerged a suite of rooms on the fourth floor of the Piccadilly Hotel. He slept there the night he engaged the suite, and next day he called at the Regent Street premises of Mappin & Webb, and asked for several to be sent down to the hotel for his wife to make her choice. One Glorious Year

By MAY CHRISTIE

Cupid's Red Roses
I awoke in what seemed to me to be eternity.

Yes, this was death, this freezing of the spirit. . . . this expense of blue sky and nothing else.

There was nothing round about me but wide, clear spaces. . . .

I moved a little, and as I did so, was suddenly conscious of a shooting pain that made me moan.

And then I gave a cry of terror. For hours I lay there, half sideways on the jagged ledges of cliff. There was nothing round about me but wide, clear spaces. . . .

I moved a little, and as I did so, was suddenly conscious of a shooting pain that made me moan.

CITIZENS ARE URGED TO CHECK NAMES

Those Who Need Not Register This Year Advised to Give Notice of Any Change in Address

Citizens who do not register this year in order to get a vote at the civic elections are urged to check up their names on the voters' list at the City Hall to avoid prevent difficulties arising at the polls.

Already a number of people have taken the trouble to visit the City Clerk's office in order to make alterations in the addresses shown on the voters' list or to check up to be sure that everything was right.

Citizens who have changed their addresses since last year and who do not make the necessary correction, may experience some trouble on election day.

While the paying of a trade license does not entitle anyone to vote, the payment of the two-dollar road tax being necessary, such a city license paid by one living outside the city does not abolish the right to vote in Victoria if the individual pays the road tax.

VETERANS ENDORSE GET-A-VOTE SLOGAN

Organization Promises to Assist the Gyro in Their Intercity Civic Interest Contest.

The Army and Navy Veterans' Association has again heartily endorsed the Gyro "Get-a-Vote" Campaign and promised to give its assistance in winning the civic interest contest which is being staged between Calgary and Victoria.

The request of the Canadian Legion for the commemoration of Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day on the same day has already been taken up by the Provincial and Dominion Commands. The meeting was informed, and will be discussed at the Dominion Convention of the Army and Navy Veterans, which will be held at Montreal.

The proceedings of the Provincial convention will be in Victoria the last week, prior to the meeting.

Comrade T. Jones was unanimously elected first vice-president of the Victoria unit, and Comrade G. Day was chosen second vice-president. Comrade G. Gardiner was appointed to fill the vacancy of naval representative on the executive council.

The organization, Comrade T. Jones, was instructed to take up matters of vital importance to ex-service men. The Dominion convention will start on October 17, and will close on October 20.

Comrade Seymour Rowlinson, past president, occupied the chair last night. There was a good attendance of members.

ANNUAL POTATO FAIR

Second Annual Event Under Direction of Provincial Department to Be Held Next Month

The second annual Provincial Potato Fair will be held some time during the month of November, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. The exact date and place for holding the fair will be announced by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

On account of the deep interest shown in the first annual potato fair held last year in Chilliwack, the department has decided to give prizes for table stock as well as seed potatoes this year.

Cowardly and un-Christian.

Dr. Hadwen characterized vivisection as cowardly and un-Christian-like, as well as useless and absurd. "Those who practice vivisection ascend to a level below that of the savages. They are not even as savage as the animals they vivisection. They lack all sense of character and ignore the highest principles of humanity and civilization, namely, that the strong have no right to take advantage of the weak—a principle for the vindication of which our Empire fought Prussianism."

Repudiating the claim that the victims of vivisection did not suffer as humans would, Dr. Hadwen held that the lower animals are more sensitive than human beings, and supported his argument by illustrations of the superior sense of sight, hearing, smell and touch in animals such as could be found in everyday observation.

Vivisectionists merely take advantage of the nature of animals to express their feelings in certain language, he said. "Ignoring common sense, they seem to think that animals cannot suffer because they cannot say so."

But Dr. Hadwen said that leading vivisectionists have begun to publicly recognize that the operations made upon animals in the name of science were inhuman, and had ceased to place any of the experiments in the so-called painless category.

URGES FIGHT ON FAKE THEORIES

Dr. Walter Hadwen, Anti-Vivisection Leader, Ridicules Medical Profession and Attacks Accepted Practices

The germ theory, vaccination and inoculation, and other "fashionable" medical theories, such as vivisection and other processes sponsored by modern-day science, went tumbling down last night under the withering bombardment of argument and ruthless sarcasm of Dr. Walter Hadwen, president of the British Union for the Abolition of Vivisection.

Speaking before an audience of five hundred persons in the Empress Hotel ballroom, Dr. Hadwen held up some of the scientific men of greatest repute as humbug and their achievements and ideas as frauds.

"The trouble with the medical profession is that medical students are never taught to think for themselves," he said. "The doctors for accepting without question the doctrines of the men that had gone before them. 'It's very rare that medical men do think for themselves. They dare not put down their faddish ideas on examination papers, and that attitude continues with most of them through life. Very rarely they come out as original thinkers. They accept the prevailing authority. They fall into ruts set for them by other people.'

Appealed to Victorians to fight a sustained campaign against all medical practices contrary to the laws of nature.

"Nature and common sense will keep you right," he said. "That is my guide, and if you follow it, too, you won't go far wrong."

Dr. Hadwen is 68 years old. He is a vegetarian and he said last night that he relied on a daily cold bath and plenty of exercise to maintain his health. He has been active all his life, and declares that no fees for services are ever paid him.

Most of his address last night was devoted to vivisection, which he described as the last black stain against humanity.

Cowardly and un-Christian.

Dr. Hadwen characterized vivisection as cowardly and un-Christian-like, as well as useless and absurd. "Those who practice vivisection ascend to a level below that of the savages. They are not even as savage as the animals they vivisection. They lack all sense of character and ignore the highest principles of humanity and civilization, namely, that the strong have no right to take advantage of the weak—a principle for the vindication of which our Empire fought Prussianism."

Repudiating the claim that the victims of vivisection did not suffer as humans would, Dr. Hadwen held that the lower animals are more sensitive than human beings, and supported his argument by illustrations of the superior sense of sight, hearing, smell and touch in animals such as could be found in everyday observation.

Vivisectionists merely take advantage of the nature of animals to express their feelings in certain language, he said. "Ignoring common sense, they seem to think that animals cannot suffer because they cannot say so."

But Dr. Hadwen said that leading vivisectionists have begun to publicly recognize that the operations made upon animals in the name of science were inhuman, and had ceased to place any of the experiments in the so-called painless category.

"The Rockefeller Hell!"

"We who are leading the fight against this vile practice are charged with misrepresentation and exaggeration," he said. "But we base all our statements on the public documents, vouched for by the vivisectionists themselves. If our statements are false, the vivisectionists themselves are guilty of falsehood. The whole name of vivisection is as well known by no other name but damnable. The Rockefeller Institute, which has become a shrine to the iniquitous, I prefer to call the Rockefeller Hell."

Dr. Hadwen told of experiments to transfer the kidneys of a dog from the normal position to the neck.

"Even if there was any sense in trying to find out whether a dog could live along with his kidneys in his neck, the anatomical difference between man and dog is so great that the experiment would be ridiculous, and in this instance I am not even referring to the moral aspect of this thing, of the cruelty of these people inspired by scientific curiosity."

He told of experiments to produce animals including the pouring of boiling water into a dog's stomach.

"Every ingenious, devilish device of torment has been used in order that someone might write a book about it," he said. "The result of all this, as shown afterwards, could have been gained far better by studying the dog's natural anatomy and physiology."

Racing Popular but Betting is Illegal

Member of Nova Scotia Government,
Visiting Here, Says Halifax Finds
Gambling Not Essential

Betting is illegal in Nova Scotia, but horse races without gambling have proved a big drawing card at the Halifax Exhibitions in the past. Mr. A. Armstrong, Minister of Works and Mines in the Nova Scotia Government, said in the course of an interview at the Empress Hotel last evening.

The big Halifax explosion destroyed the exhibition buildings there, and since that time the annual exhibition has not been held. Mr. Armstrong, who is chairman of the Exhibition Society Commission, has been inspecting the racing activities across the continent, with a view to utilising the experience of other localities in the reconstruction of the Halifax buildings, which is to be undertaken shortly.

The Halifax Exhibition was operated by an exhibition society entirely without government or municipal aid, and while it did not prove a big attraction, proved a big attraction. There was some betting carried on illicitly, he admitted. The value of an annual exhibition is realized in Halifax to the extent that its resumption is being asked for, pointed out the Minister.

In addition to having no betting at its racetracks, Nova Scotia has prohibited it in forest land. Mr. Armstrong said it was proving successful. While there was some illegal manufacture and sale of liquor, the general result of prohibition had been beneficial, and there was no danger of it being abrogated.

Miners Reaching Normal

The coal mines are gradually reaching normal production since the recent strike, said the Minister. There is no indication of any striking on the job, on the part of the men. The damage to the mines through the strike was not large, and the loss was mainly in time.

Although Mr. Armstrong's trip is one undertaken essentially for pleasure, he is taking the opportunity to gain information on a variety of matters connected with his activities in the Province. He is, for example, securing data regarding British Columbia's eight-hour day for coal miners, and is meeting the various members of the Provincial Government. The local coal links have also proved attractive to the visiting Minister, who is delighted with Victoria, which is now seeing for the first time.

Nova Scotia has gone in for provincial hydro-electric development, having in view ultimate results similar to those of Ontario. The city of Halifax is being supplied with electricity from a provincial government plant built about twenty miles distant. The city buys its power in bulk and resells it to the mines, large interlinking hydro-electric systems for the province is the plan of the Government, Mr. Armstrong stated. He is a member of the hydro-electric commission.

Something which Nova Scotia has, and which has been sometimes advocated for British Columbia, is a provincial minimum wage for school teachers.

B.C.'s "Overhead"

Mr. Armstrong is one of the four Ministers of the Nova Scotia Government. There were formerly only three, he pointed out. It seems to him that British Columbia must have a high overhead cost for administration.

A movement for a uniform assessment of land and improvements throughout Nova Scotia is under way, said the visiting Minister. The improvements are taxed in that province, but his assessment is not always just, he admitted, pointing out that if a house received a new coat of paint it was value in the eyes of the assessor. He was able to take a jump owing to the improved house and move into another house, with a less attractive exterior, but perhaps even a better structure actually, remained at a lower figure.

Mr. Armstrong is accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong. Yesterday morning they addressed the students at Victoria College, bringing greetings from Nova Scotia. The Minister spoke of the varied possibilities of British Columbia industries. Mr. E. Howard Russell replied to Mr. Armstrong, who was introduced by Principal E. B. Paul.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Uncloaked news is a myth, the equivalent of a breathing corpse, Carl Sandburg, author and newspaperman, told the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University in an address. Neither historians, poets, artists, nor news writers can live and grow without passions, prejudices, preferences, he said. He added that newspaper writing of today is more vital, direct and straightforward than ever before. "There is no standing definition of news. The thing called news is as elusive as the thing called art or poetry."

Victoria Is Starting Point in Province for the Organization of Young People

With Victoria as the only city up to the present in which work in this line has been actively undertaken, interest is being aroused throughout the Province in the Provincial division of the Canadian Red Cross.

Mrs. Louise Moore has been engaged for some months past to form junior branches in the schools. She will continue this work, the service being entirely voluntary. The value of the child of Junior Red Cross training can scarcely be overestimated. The children are encouraged to earn the fee which entitles them to membership, either by personal effort or by a whole school or class combining to give a concert or other entertainment. It has been found that the youngsters thus value more highly the privileges of membership.

The Junior Red Cross has for its objects the acquainting of its members with the aims and objects of the Red Cross, the enlisting of the sympathies and services of the members on behalf of suffering children less fortunately situated than themselves, the promotion of health, hygiene and encouraging healthful habits among its members, and generally the inculcation and development of kindly thought and sympathetic action by personal effort and sacrifice on behalf of others thus providing intelligent training in good citizenship. The Junior Red Cross has its own magazine, which comes to the members each month, and which is full of interesting stories and pictures, on general, as well as health, topics.

The small membership fee is devoted to helping sick or crippled children whose parents are not sufficiently well off to provide them with proper medical or surgical attention. The Junior Red Cross, in addition, Junior Red Cross cards, and even Junior Red Cross hospitals have been established, so that needy children may receive the care and attention required. In every possible way, the Junior Red Cross promotes and encourages a sense of responsibility, and a realization of the beauty of service for its members, so that its work is of a definite educational value. The principles of the International Red Cross, as outlined in the covenant of the League of Nations: "The improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

During the present month an effort is being put forth to have a drive for membership in the various schools of the city, and it is hoped that the importance of the work will be recognized and rewarded.

SALE A SUCCESS

Poor Clare Nuns Will Benefit by Bazaar Held at Knights of Columbus Hall

The Knights of Columbus hall furnished a very nice background for the attractive stalls, round which patrons crowded during the bazaar held on Thursday afternoon on behalf of the Poor Clare Nuns.

The affair, which was formally opened by Rt. Rev. Bishop Macdonald, netted over $700 for the order, showing a very keen sympathy on the part of the people of Our Lady of Lourdes and other Catholic parishes of the city. While the sale was in progress a musical programme was given by Miss Gertrude Goss, who was in charge, assisted by Miss Margaret Adam, Miss Margaret Sehl, Miss Agnes Charlesbols and Miss Olive Astor.

The principal feature in the decorations of the hall was the colorful lent by the many balloons which depended from the ceilingings about the numerous stalls, while evergreens were the outside of the centre field boards. This made the local crew gasp, and after a silent prayer were withdrawn, offering up to the sun. The game continued, and before the initial inning was over, five tallies were marked up on the scoreboard for the Terminal City aggregation.

All the runs that the Capital City lads could garner during the matinee engagement totalled three, while it is too sad a story to again relate how many tallies Vancouver had to give up. When the pitcher was finally completed, both teams thoroughly enjoyed the exercise, and although the Victoria Rotarians, who copped the trophy last year, had to admit defeat, they are willing to acknowledge that they were outclassed by their visiting brethren yesterday afternoon.

The teams were as follows:

Vancouver—Davidson, cf; Conley, 3b; Eastman, 2b; Miller, p; Kearns, rf; Duker, 1b; Beatty, ss; and Payson, lf.

VANCOUVER WINS ROTARY TROPHY

Visiting Team Trounces Victoria Players—Lester Patrick Unable to Check Terrible Onslaught

The Rotary Perpetual Challenge

Baseball Trophy was given yesterday to the Vancouver Rotary organization as a result of the match played yesterday afternoon at the Stadium grounds, where the Rotarians from the mainland centre had no difficulty in tanning the local men's hides to the merry tune of 13 runs to 2. The result of the match was never in doubt after the first frame.

After the game the Terminal City folks took to the old pill yesterday, anyone would naturally come to the conclusion that playing baseball was second nature to them. In any case, the Victoria men were willing to admit when the smoke of battle had blown away that the visiting tribe would not look too bad in an exhibition game in the monsoon lands of the eastern metropolis.

Lester Patrick walked out into the high portion of the sand diamond and when the Malandrins saw the local hockey manager in action, they began to fear for themselves. But their fears were quickly relegated to the realm of forgotten things when they began to pound Lester to all corners of the park, forcing him to retire before the fifth stanza had been reached.

Percy Watson, who the while had been acting as official receiver, thought it would be a good thing if Lester and he exchanged offices and he did. But the damage was done, and in spite of the best efforts to fortify the embattled, the monsoon winds of the Rotarians from across the Gulf, the Vancouver bunch took to his offerings heartily and chased over a few more counters.

Local Men Helpless

The Victoria boys were not asleep all the time, but they were well nigh helpless before the effective twirling of the star flinger of the mainland squad. He was given good support by teammates, who had come over here with only one thing in view, and that was to take something away from Victoria.

The first ball pitched by Lester in the first inning to the first Vancouver batter who approached the plate found itself sailing high into the air and finally coming down to earth on CAPITOL You expect to see stars THEATRE in the movies? Well, you are going to see a star kind in "Burning Sands," due to the inventive faculty of James Young Howe, George Melford's second camera man, who has devised a process for showing the stars in the sky—and making them twinkle! This process will be embodied in many of the night scenes made at Victoria. The mundane stars of the picture "The Milton Sills and Wanda Hawley, " "Burning Sands" is now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

ROYAL The limited number of VICTORIA principals in the cast of "The Storm," the Universal-Jewel production, will be seen for the first time today at the Royal Theatre, gives each of the three featured players an opportunity for making his acting stand out prominently. House Peters, the star, and Virginia Valli and Matt Moore make the most of their chances. They give a performance that is in the artistic point of view and 100 per cent in entertainment value. The play in all its magnificent action is uncommonly gripping and affords an audience the keenest pleasure and suspense. Virginia Valli as the French orphan, loved by both Peter Weston and Dave Rawson, has a lovely type and the part with a deep understanding and sympathy that is winning her widespread commendation. "The Storm" presents the struggle between the two lovers to win the girl and the apartment. Marmette to play with both of them. This is a happy ending in an unusual but natural way that sends everyone home happy.

PLAYHOUSE Today will see two THEATRE performances one at 2:30 matines and the second at 8:30 tonight of the show Number Five. "The Bing Boys" is the new vehicle for this week's attraction. The audiences are increasing in size and after each performance they are going away in a jolly mood which is the best evidence of the success of the play. Reginald Hincks has chosen one of the best times of the year in London, a sensational review which made thousands laugh at a time when there were many tears and sad hearts in the great capital. The comedy is excellent, and the familiar old songs whistled by most everyone who does such a thing makes the whole evening's programme one of high-class entertainment.

GIRL'S SACRIFICE
BRINGS DRAMA TO
INTERESTING FILM

Just as the gates of success opened for her—and hers were stretched to the golden road to success—Nan received a telegram in New York that caused her to sacrifice her career without a second thought. The message was from Seattle and it informed her that Donald McKay was lying ill, and could not recover unless she came to him. She had to Nan caught the first train for the Far West, and arrived in the nick of time. And when the Springtime had brought complete recovery, there were wedding bells in the McKays home.

The romance of Nan and the Donald is shown in "Skidoo" the much-heralded first night of the new Legion Theatre at Kings Cross which opened with a new play by Mr. Arnold Henne called "Body and Soul." The caustic and mild will probably describe the play tersely by saying that it has neither "un point c'est tout."

Mr. Henne has written a series of dialogues, presumably to portray on the stage a young woman in English society, whose character and occupation are not definitely known, but for some inscrutable reason can afford to ignore. The part of Lady Mabing is played by Miss Viola Trele, who has had every chance to study the prototype, but who had not devoted much study to her lines.

What plot there is takes place in a futurist boudoir of the Grand Baby Hotel, where Lady Mab, weary of her eccentricities, decides to allow her soul into the body of a young person (exceedingly well played by Miss Mary Marrott Watson), who has come to sell typewriters. The young person sees her chance and pretends to be bamboozled, annexes everything of Lady Mab's, including her rather attractive young man, and Lady Mab decides to do what the others wonder they had never thought of her doing before—go and lecture in America.

I needn't describe "Lady Mab;" it is almost a dead certainty that she will soon be lecturing in America when she has tired of the films and as Lady Mab herself says, her genius for advertisement is uncanny. Every one will go and see the play from the point of view I thoroughly recommend.

In order that every detail of the costumes worn by the women prisoners in the penitentiary scenes of the picture might be absolutely correct, Cecil B. DeMille sent his assistant, Culien Tate, to New York for genuine specimens of prison attire. As a result, the clothes of Leatrice Joy, Lois Wilson and the other inmates of the penitentiary are authentic reproductions of the clothing worn by criminals serving sentence.

THE ENGLISH STAGE

By Elizabeth Montisambert

The persistent bad luck that has dogged Miss Marie Lohr of late years seems to have lifted its hand from her shoulder when she produced "The Return" at the Globe Theatre last Wednesday. Probably in the original French, written by M. Robert de Flers and Francis de Croisset, the play doesn't draw so much just before the final and greatest scene. But Miss Lohr had Lotte Venne in the cast and Leon Boucicault—for once not allowing his acting to degenerate from comedy to farce—and Lotte Venne's acting is inimitable.

The plot is filmy. Jacques Vaudier is expected back from the war by his beautiful, bored wife Colette (played by Miss Lohr in a way that reminds one of Gabrielle Rossetti).

Absence has heated her heart even fonder, but the advent of a more exciting young naval officer and the enigma of custom drives Colette to ask her astounded husband to divorce her. He stipulates that he shall choose the new husband and is furious when the naval officer materializes. The wife leaves the two men to discuss her future, on the understanding they do not kill each other. They discover they were in the same batteries and begin to reconstruct the scenes—using, crowning indignity—Colette's photograph to represent a hussar. She, hearing the excitement, comes to the door to find the man has been forgotten. If she had not existed, the studio will be established in this city. Mr. Fox said, adding that he intended bringing with him $60,000 worth of studio lamps to use in studio work.

Miss Lohr looked "sweetly pretty" in very charming gowns. Lotte Venne as her worldly-wise, cynical old mother, Mr. Jack Hobbs as the engaging young lover and Mr. Roush as the boring old one made up an excellent cast that should support Miss Lohr in a long and successful run.

Then came "Secrets" at the Comedy with its early Victoria frocks and crinolines, and Fay Compton looking adorable as the all-forgiving wife, of whom every husband in the States will highly approve. In fact, I heard one cynic say the Comedy was a husband left in London. Anyone who had seen the play, but only read it, is advised to see it again.

That Miss May Edington and Mr. Beeler, the joint authors, had taken "What Every Woman Knows" and "Milestones" and "The Circle" and "Mary Rose" and jumbled them up and evolved "Secrets." But if there is nothing new under the sun, it is good to be reminded of past joys, and I hear that "Secrets" is already booked up for several weeks.

Body and Soul

Last night was the much-heralded first night of the new Legion Theatre at Kings Cross which opened with a new play by Mr. Arnold Henne called "Body and Soul." The caustic and mild will probably describe the play tersely by saying that it has neither "un point c'est tout."

Officers and Friends of Y.W.C.A. Accompany Miss de Wolfe to Boat Last Night

Miss de Wolfe, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., left by the midnight boat to New York to attend the "Manslaughter" which plays at the Dominion next week. The DeMille wardrobe, under the direction of Clare West, has become world famous for the original fashion creations which it has produced for each succeeding Cecil B. DeMille production. Fashion designers the world over have consulted the producer on matters of feminine style.

In "Manslaughter," however, Mr. DeMille dresses the women of his cast in one part of the story, according to the dictates of other fashion dictators—the prime authorities of the state of New York.

In order that every detail of the costumes worn by the women prisoners in the penitentiary scenes of the picture might be absolutely correct, Culien Tate, to New York for genuine specimens of prison attire. MOOSE WHIST DRIVE

The Loyal Order of Moose held their annual bimonthly dance and whist drives at the Caledonia Hall on Wednesday evening. The event proved a decided success. The Moose Five-plate order will support an exclusive programme of music which will do much to ensure a steady following at these events for the rest of the series. The serving of led drinks proved such a very popular innovation and was so much appreciated by the dancers that the committee has decided to continue this practice at all future functions. The following evening the whist drives will be the scenes of various musical and various script prizes in the whist drives: Ladies—Mrs. Hodgkinson, first; Mrs. Osborne, second, and Mrs. Dale Johnson, third. Gents—W. Dart, first; Sam McDonald, second, and A. Rodger, third.

MAY ESTABLISH STUDIO IN CITY

Mr. William Fox, Jr., Movie Director, Arrives Here to Take Travelogue Pictures of Vancouver Island

With the purpose of taking a motion picture travelogue of Victoria and establishing a motion picture studio, probably that light conditions prove satisfactory, either here or in Vancouver, Mr. William Fox, Jr., a director of the West Coast Studio Company, of Hollywood, one of California's largest movie concerns, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Southern California.

Mr. Fox explained to The Colonist last night at the Empress Hotel that he had come to Vancouver with $4,000 worth of film for taking pictures of the scenery on Vancouver Island. Two cameramen, Meers, Len H. Ross and J. H. Bolton, accompany him, and they will take a test of "light" conditions in Victoria and its environs to-day. By means of this travelogue Victoria will be indirectly advertised throughout the United States and Canada.

The motion picture director said that he was very anxious to start a studio in British Columbia because of the duty which companies had to pay in shipping raw negatives between the United States and Canada.

He found that there is more light and brighter light here than in Vancouver, the studio will be established in this city. Mr. Fox said, adding that he intended bringing with him $60,000 worth of studio lamps to use in studio work.

Mr. Fox looked "sweetly pretty" in very charming gowns, Lotte Venne as her worldly-wise, cynical old mother, Mr. Jack Hobbs as the engaging young lover and Mr. Roush as the boring old one made up an excellent cast that should support Miss Lohr in a long and successful run.

Mr. Fox said that he would bring about 75 experienced moving picture folks from California. In addition to these, however, a number of "extras" would be engaged, and these people would be picked from persons living here, the wages of "extras" being from $7.50 to $10 per day. Mr. Fox pointed out that the weekly payroll of the studio would be about $6,000, he said.

A Favorable Setting

Mr. Fox ventured the opinion, from what he had already seen of Victoria, that the wonderful scenery and charm which it possesses could be utilized as a fitting background for producing feature films. He mentioned that if he should decide to start the studio in Victoria, a number of motion pictures would be screened on Vancouver Island.

Expressing the belief that conditions in British Columbia will be favorable to the motion picture industry, Mr. Fox declared that he had every confidence that the travelogue would be a success.

He said that the film would be prepared for this evening and undoubtedly a goodly number of last Winter's patrons will be in attendance.

The first part of the evening will be given to a talk between the Armory and the Drill Hall, the public invited to attend.

A splendid programme arranged for opening entertainment at New Drill Hall

The Fifth Regiment, C.G.A., will open its series of community concerts tonight at the new Drill Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock. A large number of these concerts were held at the Armory during the past Winter, and as popular as they prove to be, the committee has decided to have them in the Drill Hall throughout the Winter.

It is expected that a thousand people will be present on a single evening.

PRETTY MARRIAGE IS WITNESSED AT SOMENOS THURSDAY

DUNCAN, Oct. 6.—At St. Mary's Church, Somenos, the wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock of two of the most popular members of Cowichan's younger set, when Rev. A. Blischager of Redgrave, England, and Mrs. Holt Wilson, widow of Rev. T. Holt Wilson, the Rev. T. Treffry Corfield, Jr., man of Cowichan, son of Mr. G. T. Corfield, of Cowichan Station, and the late Mr. Corfield, before an assembly of over one hundred guests.

The bride was a picture of girlish charm and loveliness, wearing a beautiful dress of ivory, with a beaded crepe de Chine cut on simple lines. With this she wore an exquisite Honiton lace veil, a circlet of orange blossoms forming a wreath around her head. The veil was the one worn by her mother and by her grandmother. She carried a shower bouquet of white lilies and lilies of the valley, and an ivory prayer book, the gift of her godmother at her christening.

She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Michael Wilson, of Peavine, Alta., and was attended by her sister, Miss Joyce Wilson, who wore a maid of honour's dress of "Mary Royal" silk, crepe with picture hat of gold lace underfaced with blue tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of pale yellow roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Norman T. Corfield.

The church was artistically decorated

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 5.—On Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Holy Trinity Church, the marriage of Miss Lorna Dalby, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dalby, and Mr. William Horsley Cope, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Cope, was performed by the Rev. J. Z. Willmott, of Sandwick (who married the bride's parents), assisted by the Rev. W. Leveridge. Mr. J. Walton presided at the organ. The service was fully choral.

Following this reception Mr. and Mrs. Corfield left by motor amid showers of confetti and rice for their honeymoon. The bride looked exceptionally charming and pretty, wearing a cinnamon brown suit, with a novelty sport hat of the same shade, and carried a wrap coat of brown velour, trimmed with fur.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Corfield will take up their residence at Courtenay, where the bridegroom is manager of the Corfield Motors Limited.

The many beautiful wedding gifts bequeathed by the local residents in aid of the young couple were held. Especially noteworthy was the lovely presentation to the bride by the staff of the assistant district engineer's office, Duncan, under whose employ the bride had been for the past four years. This collection of handwoven sets of cutlery, with stainless knives and forks and carving set.

METCHOSHIN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CONVENES

Regular Monthly Meeting Listen to Interesting Address on Education
by Mrs. W. Griffiths

METCHOSHIN, Oct. 5.—Most interesting and instructive was the address on "Education" given by Mrs. W. Griffiths, of Victoria, at the monthly meeting of the Metchoshin Women's Institute, which was held at the Metchoshin Hall, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Griffiths emphasized the fact that education should be a training for life, not merely from the point of view of learning to earn a living, but much more, a person should be enabled to live his, or her, life to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Griffiths also strongly urged that the burden of defective children should be borne by the people through the Government. That money dominates the education of the present day child too much was another remark by Mrs. Griffiths, who added that this causes a lack of the sense of responsibility and a departure from spiritual life.

Mrs. Griffiths went on to explain that modern psychologists have proved that the capacity and trend for education is decided before the child reaches the school age, and emphasized the enormous responsibility of parents in the earliest years of their children's life. In regard to this fact, added that the child is the direct result of force through which the hopes and ambitions can be realized, concluding with an illuminative instance of the value of self-government, even in her own school class of retarded children. Mrs. Griffiths was given a hearty vote of thanks by all those present, who much appreciated this instructive address.

The second item on the agenda was the feast, which included the arrangement for a masquerade dance to be held on November 14, for the purpose of raising funds for the school. Tea was served, concluding a pleasant afternoon.

Following the service the imme-iate relatives of the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held. The happy couple arrived on the afternoon train for their honeymoon, the bride looking particularly attractive in her going-away suit of reindeer colored cloth trimmed with seal, and black hat, with metal cloth and pearls.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. McCulah will take up their residence on 10th Street, Buena Vista Heights, Duncan.

The wedding out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCulah, parents of the groom; Miss Elia McCulah, Mrs. W. Anderson, Master Craig Anderson, Mr. Archie McCulah and Miss B. Gray, all of Nanaimo.

To You Who Don't Eat Good Breakfasts

Because you have no time to prepare it.

Because you feel no inclination for it.

Because you think you can't digest it.

1.—Do you breakfast at a restaurant or do you just have coffee at home because you have no time to wait for a morning meal?

Quaker Oats—the most wholesome, nourishing and economical breakfast—can be prepared over-night, and heated in a moment in the morning. It gives all the food elements your system needs, and costs less than one cent per dish.

2.—Have you no appetite for breakfast? Probably you have not tried the right kind.

Quaker Oats properly cooked is enjoyed by thousands who will touch no other breakfast. It has just the delicate flavor that appeals to a sensitive palate and it gives an abundance of nourishment to sustain you through the morning.

3.—Does breakfast disagree with you?

Those unable to digest other foods find in Quaker Oats an ideal breakfast. It is a simple, basic food, gently stimulating the stomach to perform its function. Properly cooked it is easily digested and assimilated.

Oats reach nearer perfection as a balanced food than anything else that is grown. Everybody should eat oats at least once a day. Quaker Oats are the finest oats you can buy. In milling, all the small, imperfect grains are discarded, and only the rich, plump, queen grains, full of flavor and nourishment, are retained.

Order a package of Quaker Oats with your groceries to-day.
